CONTENTS

NUMBER 1

	Page
Presidential address. E. Bushby	1
The effect of supplementary barley upon growth and efficiency of food conversion in calves kept at high grazing intensity. J. Hodgson and J. C. Tayler	7
Land restoration with pulverized fuel ash. E. W. F. Gillham and W. Morley Davies	13
Estimates of respiratory rates and losses in cut swards of Lolium perenne (S321) under simulated haymaking conditions. E. A. Pizarro and D. B. James	17
The effect of method of determination of acid-detergent fibre on its relationship with the digestibility of grasses. M. N. McLeod and D. J. Minson	23
The visual estimation of pasture availability using standard pasture cores. K. J. Hutchinson, R. W. McLean and B. A. Hamilton	29
The ensilage of autumn-sown rye. R. F. Wilson and R. J. Wilkins	35
The cattle dung patch. 2. Effect of a dung patch on the chemical status of the soil, and ammonia nitrogen losses from the patch. 3. Distribution and rate of decay of dung patches and their influence on grazing behaviour. B. N. MacDiarmid and B. R. Watkin	43
Papers read at the winter meeting of the British Grassland Society in London on 10 December, 1971	55
Book reviews	61
Conversion tables for British and metric weights and measures	63

NUMBER 2

Tillering in grasses—its significance and control. O. R. Jewiss	65
The electronic measurement of small herbage yields using a high sensitivity capacitance meter. J. V. Lovett and G. J. Burch	83
Some factors affecting milk production from grassland at the Hannah Institute, 1951–70. M. E. Castle, Elizabeth MacDaid and J. N. Watson	87
Producing grass for summer milk. K. M. Wolton	93
The rate of water loss from grass samples during hay-type conservaton. R. M. Morris	99
Effect of day-night temperature regimes on growth and morphological development of timothy plants derived from winter and summer tillers. Dale Smith	107
Repeatability of a two-stage in vitro system of digestibility measurement. A. L. Brundage	111
The effect of fattening steers of supplementing silage with dried grass or rolled barley. T. A. McCullough	115
Studies of response to fertilizer nitrogen. Part 2. Effects of pre-harvest application of fertilizer nitrogen on mineral uptake of S24 perennial ryegrass. I. V. Hunt	119
Book reviews	129
Conversion tables for British and metric weights and measures	131

JOURNAL OF THE BRITISH GRASSLAND SOCIETY VOLUME 27, 1972

	Page
The decomposition of cattle dung and its effect on pasture. M. E. Castle and Elizabeth MacDaid	133
The disposal of copper-enriched pig-manure slurry on grassland. T. Batey, C. Berryman and C. Line	139
A portable-corral technique for measuring the effect of grazing intensity on yield, quality and intake of herbage. R. D. Harkess, J. de Battista and I. A. Dickson	145
The agronomic evaluation of Syn 1 tall fescue in the west of Scotland. J. Frame	155
The seasonal pattern of dry-matter production of grasses in the north Pennines. R. M. Morris and J. G. Thomas	163
The zero-grazing of beef cattle. J. F. D. Greenhalgh, J. N. Aitken and G. W. Reid	173
The effect of cutting height and cutting frequency on the productivity of an Italian ryegrass sward. R. C. Binnie and F. J. Harrington	177
The effect of nitrogen and stocking rate on the output of pasture grazed by beef cattle. I. M. Yiakoumettis and W. Holmes	183
Letter to the editor	193
Summaries of papers read at the summer meeting of the British Grassland Society, Newcastle upon Tyne, 17–21 July, 1972	195
Book reviews	203
Conversion tables for British and metric weights and measures	206

NUMBER 4

A study of the intake of drinking water by dairy cows at grass. M. E. Castle	207
The effects of white clover and applied nitrogen on the nitrogen content of various grass/clover mixtures. D. M. B. Chestnutt	211
The utilization of dried grass by early weaned lambs. R. M. Tait	217
The effects of harvest date on the yield and quality of seed of tetraploid hybrid ryegrass. S. Williams	221
The effect of white clover on the production of young and older grassland compared to that of nitrogen fertilizer. H. J. Kleter and J. A. Bakhuis	229
The effect of a ryegrass companion grass and the variety of red clover on the productivity of red clover swards. J. Frame, R. D. Harkess and I. V. Hunt	241
Heading dates of S24 perennial ryegrass and spring temperatures. Marjory G. Roy	251
A note on the suitability of the in vitro digestibility technique for very small plant samples. M. N. McLeod	261
Book reviews	265
Annual index	269
Conversion tables for British and metric weights and measures	272
